Radar Failure Mystifies Officials Probing Crash Of Airliner; 36 Rescued

New York, (AP)—A fog-shrouded airliner crashed into the East river yesterday despite radar—aviation's top bad weather safety device.

All 36 persons aboard were saved by speedy rescue work within sight of their destination, busy La Guardia field.

The plane was being raised last night from nine feet of water. Investigators want to know why its image flickered off a radar screen as it was being talked through a routine bad weather landing.

Mine Blast Kills 19 In Canada

Stellarton, N. S., (AP)—An explosion of gas ripped the McGregor coal pit yesterday in Canada's worst mine disaster in 11 years. Mine officials said they believe all 19 men caught in the immediate area of the blast were killed.

Twelve bodies, two of them unidentified, have been recovered. All the victims were residents of this Pictou county industrial area about 100 miles north of Halifax. Death apparently came instantly as the miners were battling to set up barriers against the gas which they had detected earlier.

Families of many victims began an apparently hopeless vigil at the pithead in bone-chilling weather. Three miners who were working some distance from the explosion were injured but were brought out alive.

Search Begun For Hunter

Lock Haven, Pa. (AP)—Lock Haven police have inaugurated a new search for George Franks, 21, who disappeared while on a hunting trip in Pike county Dec. 4, 1950.

Police said Jerome Franks, Philadelphia policeman and father of the youth, visited here Sunday after hearing a report that his son had been seen at an American Legion dance here.

The elder Franks furnished that police with pictures of the missing son and the search began.

The father said he believed that George may be suffering from amnesia. He said his son disappeared while with him and a group of other hunters in the northeastern part of the State.

Local and State police plus volunteer airplane pilots staged a fruitless search at that time for the youth.

Officer Freed Of Blame In Highway Death

Seranton (AP)—The Lackawanna county grand jury has ignored a charge of involuntary manslaughter against Petty Officer Harold D. O'Neal, Syracuse, N. Y., it was disclosed yesterday as the jury completed a week's work.

O'Neal was arrested after his car had struck and killed Mrs. Lucy Quinn, 69, Daleville, near her home on Jan. 2. A second car also ran over the woman. The testimony disclosed the woman walked in front of O'Neal's car. The jury also ignored the case against the driver of the second car.

Record Crowd Attracted To Farm Exhibits

Harrisburg (AP)—The 1952 State Farm Show, Pennsylvania's annual agricultural colossus, opened here yesterday with a dazzling display of farm exhibits.

Good weather around the State brought the show its biggest opening day crowd in history. An estimated 130,000 persons pushed through turnstiles. The previous opening day record was 95,000 set in 1949.

Police Set Match To Inflammable Sweater, Watch It Burn To Ashes Within 60 Seconds

At least one local man's "exploding sweater" went up with a puff in Stroudsburg yesterday—but he wasn't wearing it at the time.

After reading the stories in newspapers about sale of the dangerously inflammable sweaters, Claude E. Hagerman, Arlington Heights letter carrier, took his button-front coat-type sweater to State police at the Stroudsburg barracks.

The very light tan sweater bore a label which said "Will-Schaefer Sports Wear." Hagerman showed it to Sgt. Morgan B. Davis.

County police had been alerted a few days earlier to be on the lookout for men selling the "exploding sweaters." They had been reported active in New Jersey, in Scranton and in the Bethlehem-Easton-Allentown area.

To determine if Hagerman's sweater was the "explosive" type, Sergeant Davis and the postman went outside the barracks, touched a match to the fabric.

It burned completely in less than 60 seconds.

Hagerman said he bought the sweater last October for $5 from three men who canvassed him at home from a station wagon bearing a New York license, and a sedan. One man he described as about 25, six feet tall, weight about 220 pounds, thick black hair. The other two were short and in their 40s, Hagerman recalled.

Churchill Sees Peace

Ottawa (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared last night that, even though no one can predict what will happen, the West has "the life, strength and guiding light" needed to bring a tormented world to safety.

"We have surmounted all the perils and endured all the agonies of the past," he reminded the free world.

"We shall provide against—and thus prevail over—the dangers and problems of the future, without a sacrifice, grudge or toil, seek no sordid gain, fear no foe. All will be well."

The 77-year-old British statesman called the 12-nation North Atlantic pact the "surest guarantee, not only of the prevention of war, but of victory, should our hopes be blasted."

Churchill said that his four-day conference with President Truman last week had convinced him the North Atlantic treaty is now more than a defense alliance.

It is broadening out, he said, into a North Atlantic community of free nations, "acting together, not only for defense but for the welfare and happiness and progress of all the peoples of the free world."

Fine Signs Three Liquor Measures

Harrisburg (AP)—If you're under 18, you now won't be able to make liquor or beer deliveries.

Gov. John S. Fine yesterday signed a law prohibiting minors under that age from handling alcoholic beverage deliveries.

Another new law will now bar taverns or State liquor stores from cashing payroll or relief checks.

The State Liquor Control board will, under a third law signed by Fine, be permitted to impose a service or handling charge in filling special orders for liquor not always available in State stores.

onds later Daily Record Photographer Les Carlton snapped a picture as flame shot over the fabric. One minute after the match was touched to it, the sweater was only powdery black ash.

Reds Charge Allies Lied

Munsan, Korea, Tuesday (AP)—Korean truce talks deteriorated yesterday to a level of bitter name-calling with the Communists accusing an Allied negotiator of engaging in deceit and "a big lie" in urging a prisoner exchange favorable to both sides.

There was no agreement except to meet again. Subcommittees on truce supervision and prisoner exchange convened at Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Tuesday (9 p.m., EST, Monday).

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, the United Nations negotiator, demanded the Communists prove the charge or "retract our ill-considered remarks."

"I do not know whether I've been personally called a liar, but I got a strong inference," the American admiral snapped angrily. He said he would study the record to make sure.

"As a representative of the United Nations command, I shall not sit here and listen to unfounded charges that the U.N. command is making a deceitful proposal and is engaging in lies," Libby told Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, the North Korean delegate who had hurled the "lie" pharage.

"When you are prepared to continue these meetings as equals on the basis of decency and common courtesy, and when you are prepared either to quit making unsubstantiated charges or to substantiate your charges with facts, then we can proceed with some hope of making progress," Libby informed Lee.

Democratic State Committee To Name Delegates

Harrisburg (AP)—Twenty delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention will be elected by Democrats here Jan. 26.

The Democratic State committee is expected to revise its rules under a 1951 law to permit it to elect the delegates-at-large instead of having them chosen by a direct vote of the people.

Pennsylvania's Democrats are entitled to 70 votes in choosing a presidential nominee at Chicago Next July 21.

The state committee will elect 20 delegates-at-large each entitled to cast a one-half vote.

Two delegates will be elected from each of the state's 30 congressional districts. The rule change will not affect the election of these delegates at the April 22 primary.

Chicago (AP)—A spokesman for the Eisenhower for President Advisory group said yesterday he expects the general will return home and "express himself plainly" on presidential issues "well before the Republican convention."

Renews Pledge To Crack Down On Wrongdoers

Washington (AP)—President Truman submitted to Congress yesterday his plan to lift the scandal-plagued Internal Revenue bureau out of the realm of political patronage. And he renewed his promise to crack down on wrongdoing in government.

In a message to the lawmakers, the President declared:

"The most vigorous efforts are being made and will continue to be made to expose and punish every government employee who misuses his official position."

The President's reorganization plan immediately ran into opposition in the Senate where some senators reflected dissatisfaction over Mr. Truman's proposal to cut down the number of regional tax-collection offices from 64 to 25.

Several legislators noted privately that Mr. Truman's plan would leave a number of the smaller States without a regional office.

The President's program would abolish the offices of the nation's 64 politically appointed tax collectors and replace them with a new setup of 25 district commissioners under civil service.

Even as Mr. Truman's message reached Capitol Hill, Rep. George Mender (R-Mich.) demanded a bipartisan investigation of "corruption" in the executive branch of government.

The Michigan legislator introduced a resolution to set up a 10-member inquiry committee, composed of five Republicans and five Democrats to be selected by House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.).

"The President has chosen to suppress a thorough going public airing of conditions by delegating the cleanup task to the department whose inactivity in the enforcement of the laws has so greatly contributed to the creation of that condition," Mender said.

McGrath is head of the Justice department which serves as the government's prosecuting arm, including cases of tax-law violations.

In his message to Congress, Mr. Truman said the office of tax collector has become "archaic," and he declared:

"We must correct every defect in organization that contributes to inefficient management and thus affords the opportunity for improper conduct."

Mr. Truman went on to say that his plan would let the Secretary of the Treasury establish up to 25 district revenue offices "instead of the present organization built around the offices of politically appointed collectors of internal revenue."

Under present law, he declared, collectors "must accommodate themselves to local political 'situations' and are not responsive to control by Treasury department superiors."

Tax collectors from all over the country met here yesterday to discuss the White House plan that would abolish their jobs. The President's program automatically goes into effect within 60 days unless either the Senate or House votes against it.

In the Senate, Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and 23 other senators, 12 of them Republicans, introduced a bill to retain the 64 collectors but place them under civil service.

Ramsey Appointed County Sealer Of Weights

Stroudsburg Borough Asks $20,000 Grant

County commissioners yesterday appointed Lawrence M. Ramsey, Middle Stroud township, as county sealer of weights and measures.

Commissioner Granville Shiffer first nominated Homer L. Singer for the post. He held it last year. The motion was not seconded, however, and Commissioner A. L. Rake put up Ramsey.

The second motion was carried by the Republican weight of Rake and board chairman Amzi F. Altomose.

Ramsey, 57, himself a former county commissioner from 1936 to 1944, lives on Stokes Mill Rd., about a mile and a half beyond the limits of Stroudsburg. He is a Republican.

A resident of the area since 1921, he operated a general store in East Stroudsburg for 10 years, served as a commissioner for two terms. After leaving public office in 1944 he entered the real estate business as an employee of Dale H. Leary's Pocono Mountain Real Estate office.

Ramsey says he will continue in the real estate business while serving as sealer of weights and measures. The job requires him to check the balance and accuracy of every scale in the county used for business purposes—about four times a year each.

Ramsey will be at the court house about 9:30 a. m. today to be sworn into office.

Appointment of Ramsey elapsed a long session which began for the commissioners at 9 a. m.

Much of the day's work went toward discussion of 1952 budget items.

A delegation from Stroudsburg borough, headed by Burgess Hal H. Harris, asked commissioners for $20,000 of county funds to apply toward street-and-road work in the borough (payable when the work is completed).

Though Harris was accompanied by Councilmen Edward Doran and Edward Lawson and Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess, the borough did most of the talking.

He told the board Stroudsburg was planning to put $45,800 into road projects during the year, and said it was necessary for him to know how much the commissioners would allow from county funds because Stroudsburg council was setting its budget that night.

(Commissioner Altomose said no advance notice of the meeting or its purpose was given the board.)

The borough stressed that of the gasoline tax money allocated to the county by the commonwealth, "one third" is collected from sale of the fuel in Stroudsburg.

Harris said the county probably will receive about $78,000 or $80,000 this year, and Stroudsburg wanted only "a fair share."

Ordinarily, funds from gasoline tax receipts are used for road and highway improvements or maintenance.

Last year, Harris said, the board of commissioners allotted $19,200 toward Stroudsburg's road projects.

Commissioner Shiffer said that in the past, the board had not allotted the funds in any set fashion. Commissioners waited until they received requests from such divisions as boroughs and townships, then "used our own judgment" in approving or trimming the amount asked.

Some townships, he said, asked for no funds at all in a given year.

The present commissioners, however, notified borough secretary Harold E. Snyder later in the day that they would not give the council an immediate answer.

Tentative approval of a $3,800 budget for the county Agricultural Extension service was given by commissioners.

The figure asked was $175 lower than for 1951.

Items listed in the budget were: stenographer's salary, $2,300; travel expenses, $750; postage, $125; telephone, $150; visual aid supplies, $75; equipment and supplies, $100; furniture and fixture, $75; stationery and office supplies, $200; contingent, $50—all adding up to $3,800.

Salaries of personnel in his office were discussed with John Litts, superintendent of schools for the county.

Another visitor to the board during the morning was Sheriff Jake Altomose, who advised the board of painting and repairs needed at the county jail.

Commissioners and Altomose agreed that prisoners would start scrubbing down and cleaning up the jail from top to bottom, in preparation for re-painting.

The Monroe County Children's Health committee was authorized to move into a vacant office in a county building adjoining the court house.

The commissioners adjourned until 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

145 Enroll For Choral Workshop

Musicians from a great number of churches in the area will gather tonight in the First Presbyterian church, Stroudsburg, for the opening session of the choral workshop to be conducted by the Fred Waring organization.

To date, 145 application blanks have been received from organists, choir directors and vocalists. The sessions will run from 7:30 to 10 p. m. each Tuesday for ten weeks. The Waring organization has agreed to provide, at no cost to the musicians or churches, the same type of music workshop that it offers to the public at large throughout the nation in the summer months.

Fire Perils Building At Fifth, Main

Fire climbed three stories up a wooden fire escape at the rear of 509 Main St., Stroudsburg, last night.

Fast-moving firemen knocked out the blaze before serious damage was done. There were no injuries.

The fire started in a pile of cardboard and rubbish which had been piled under the wooden steps leading up to wood porches at the second and third floor levels.

The ground floor is occupied by the Megargel Stroudsburg Radio and Electric Co. The second and third floors are apartments, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Lee; Mrs. Rachel M. Lessig and daughter, Betty; and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Albert.

Only persons in the building when the fire broke out were the Alberts, with son Jerry, 15, a Stroudsburg High school student, and a relative, Mrs. Elizabeth Werkheiser.

Jerry was asleep in his room. The others were watching television.

About 8:50 p. m. someone pounded on the front door of the Megargel building and yelled "Fire!" Mrs. Albert called her son and the family trooped hastily downstairs and out the front door.

Mr. Albert, who returned home from the General hospital last Friday following a tonsilectomy, was out of the house for the first time.

Volunteers of the Stroudsburg Fire Co. had been at the firehouse for the regular Monday night drill. A handful still remained when the fire whistle blew for the second time.

Borough police halted traffic on Main St. as the trucks filled up the spaces in front of and at rear of the building at the Fifth St. intersection.

Some 50 or 60 spectators raced to the scene on foot to watch firemen turn their hoses on the climbing flames, wet them down, then run up the wooden steps with a one-and-a-half inch line to soak the blazing timbers.

Adjoining buildings on either side—built with walls touching—were not affected.

Volunteers spent considerable time locating the last stubborn embers, some buried under wooden door and window frames. The accumulation of trash was thrown off the porch and removed to a safe place across the street.

The fire company was back in service at 10 p. m. The Alberts said there was no damage to their apartment, but the place reeked of smoke. They spent the night with friends in Stroudsburg.

Russell Heller Jr., of Hawley is spending some time with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berger.

Methodist Women Adopt Ten-Point Racial Program

Buck Hill Falls—Opposition to racial segregation and discrimination was expressed yesterday by 400 delegates attending the annual meeting of the Women's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions.

In adopting a 10-point charter of racial practices, the delegates called for opening of all "facilities and opportunities offered by our projects" to all people without discrimination because of racial or national background.

"Where law prohibits or custom prevents" attaining the objectives, the delegates said workers and local boards should be charged with responsibility for creating "a favorable public opinion" for changing the laws and customs.

Resolutions opposing universal military training and appointment of a U. S. ambassador to the Vatican were adopted on recommendation of the department of Christian Social Relations and Local Church Activities.

The group, headed by Mrs. James Oldshue, Chicago, as chairman, said that selective service provides the personnel for meeting the present emergency "without sacrificing" one of the traditions on which the nation was founded.

She calls by number, and her calls usually go through in a matter of seconds. That's because her calls go direct instead of being detoured through "Information" in the distant city.

Calling by number is a particularly big help to telephone operators these days. For, all over Pennsylvania, they're handling record numbers of out-of-town calls. The good service they continue to give is remarkable testimony to their skill and resourcefulness.

At toll centers throughout the state, we're constantly training additional operators. We're constantly adding new equipment, too—this year will set a new record for telephone expansion. You can be certain that, no matter how much demand grows, your standard of telephone service will remain high.

Here's a Good Suggestion

Regional Civil Defense Director Praises County's Setup

Plan Working, Lord Advises Defense School

Monroe county's present Civil Defense setup was commended last night by Eastern District Director J. W. Lord. Speaking before the C-D school at East Stroudsburg High school, Lord termed it "a plan that's working, a solid plan not built on sand. You ought to be proud of it."

Introduced by County Director Judge Fred W. Davis, Lord lauded the leaders of the county civilian defense organization, Davis and his assistant, Jack Anderson.

"The appeal we have tried to make to the people to get them interested in Civil Defense," he said, "is based primarily on 'save your own hide' and 'you can survive an A-bomb.'" This, Lord added, has been partly a mistake.

"Saving life is not the end," he continued. "The period has been put too soon." Lord pointed out the importance of "maintaining morale," emphasizing that to be "demoralized means the finish of everything."

Summarizing the impact of an atomic bombing upon a citizenry, Lord painted a picture of ultimate collapse following a loss of organization. "We have to do something now," he said. "It will be too late to try to do something after the first attack."

Among the "enemies" of Civil Defense, Lord listed high on the chart the problem of public apathy. "The problem of civilian defense is one which actively concerns every individual in this marvelous land of ours. We must," he said, "back up our boys."

Following Lord's introductory remarks, County Director Davis turned the meeting over to his assistant, Jack Anderson.

Anderson outlined the "basic organization of Monroe county Civil Defense which, he said, "has been set up in accordance with telephone exchange systems" to facilitate handling of emergency defense calls.

The county, according to Anderson's plan has been divided into five different zones. The first of these is the West End, with Henry C. Hoffman serving as zone director.

Zone number two, with headquarters in Stroudsburg, is under the direction of Franklin Weller. Zone 3, East Stroudsburg, is under direction of L. J. Klein. Zone 4, headquarters at Buck Hill Falls, under Marshall Reese and Zone 5 under Claude Bush, Pocono Lake.

The physical procedure for alerting the townships and zones of an impending raid were outlined by Anderson. Briefly this is the system: Stroudsburg State police receive word of the "alert" on the police teletype in their offices. They in turn call the county sheriff's office. The sheriff then calls Judge Davis, Anderson and all five Zone Directors, notifying them of the alert. The zone Directors call their respective air raid wardens, auxiliary firemen and workers.

Estimated time required to complete notification through the present procedure: five minutes.

Anderson, in his closing remarks, characterized the Monroe county CD system as "operating on three levels". The first of these, the county level, serves mainly in "giving information and publicity, education and training and assisting townships where the situation is out of hand."

The "zone level" Anderson depicted as being mostly for "administration and the rendering of aid and assistance."

The "township level", he concluded, is the "doing" level, where auxiliary firemen and wardens carry out the specific items designated for the defense of the citizens.

Final features of last night's first CD school meeting were a discussion by Walter Stem of the discovery of atomic energy and a feature-length film on "Communism".

The second school session will be held Wednesday night.

No-Passing Zone Held Unnecessary

A. W. Dinstel, local State Highway department superintendent, in a letter read to the board of governors of the Monroe County Automobile club last night, declared that a "no passing" zone in the Arlington Heights area was not necessary; also that the road through the Henryville section does not meet State requirements for a "through" highway.

The board received communications at the November meeting requesting support of the two projects. With reference to the "no passing" zone, Mr. Dinstel wrote it is a three-lane highway with 35-mile per hour restrictions, also that State police had made arrests for violations. He asserted a "no passing" regulation would really cause congestion.

The general layout of the Henryville road, Mr. Dinstel said, does not meet requirements for a through State highway. He did say, however, the shoulders were bad and that these conditions would be rectified as soon as weather conditions permitted.

The club authorized a donation of $25 to the National Heart fund in memory of Ralph Young, assistant manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation and district sales manager of the AAA, who died last month from a heart attack. A resolution of condolence was also authorized to be sent his family. Mr. Young was credited with having been of unusual assistance to the local motor club, his last visit here having been last October.

Mrs. Cynthia Watt, secretary-manager of the local club was authorized to attend the PMF secretarial conference at Harrisburg February 24-26.

A total of 69 new members were elected to the club and quarterly mailing of PMF motor information circulars to non-members started last year to be continued through 1952. The club membership is 1,360 at present, highest in its history.

There were 97 calls for emergency road service since the last meeting, 46 local and 51 foreign, at a cost of $355.75, it was reported.

Governors in attendance were: R. LeRoy Dengler, president; George Shick, Amel Altemose, George Woolbaugh, A. F. Everitt, G. H. Costenbader, John M. Crandall, Dr. J. F. Noonan and M. E. Leffler, also Mrs. Watt, secretary-manager.

Family Of Slain Worker Awarded Jobless Benefits

Harrisburg (AP)—The family of a job who is murdered while on the job is entitled to workmen's compensation.

That's the ruling announced yesterday by the State Workmen's Compensation board in the death of Russell Balliet, Nescopec auto salesman.

Alex Agoston was executed a year ago for fatally shooting Balliet in December, 1947. The board found that the slayer had been negotiating for the sale of his automobile to Balliet's employer, James McElrath, Berwick, at the time of Balliet's death.

The decision in the unusual case now entitles Balliet's three children to a total of $16 a week in workmen's compensation benefits until they are 16 years old.

T-B Society Extends Effort To Reach Campaign Goal So That Projects May Continue

Directors of Monroe County Tuberculosis society received reports last night showing that total receipts of the 1952 Christmas seal sale to date amount to $7,524.22, about $500 short of the $8,000 budgeted for operations this year.

Every effort will be made to obtain the required $8,000, so that plans and projects in anti-tuberculosis service and health projects set up at the time the sale campaign opened, can be carried to completion.

Exchange Club Members See Animal Films

Exchange club members saw two Bronx Zoo films, "Animals in Action," at a supper meeting in East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church last night.

The films were taken at the zoo by Dr. Claude W. Leister, of the Pocono Wild Animal farm, who was guest speaker. Dr. Leister was formerly curator of mammals at the zoo.

Frank Laise was welcomed as a new member. Horace Westbrook, fellowship chairman, hailed birthday celebrators in rhyme: They were Herbert Rupprecht, Joe Kulick and Homer Osborne.

Stroudsburg Council Bases New Budget Estimates On Same Tax Rate As Last Year

Stroudsburg council held the first of its sessions on the 1952 budget last night, and its first complete coverage of the voluminous fiscal docket came close to a balance. Revenue figures utilized were based on the same tax rate as last year.

It is expected that the budget will be brought in final balance at that time and offered as the tentative budget for 1952 before it is adopted and a tax rate is fixed.

Streets, sidewalks and curbs, Horace G. Heller, chairman, Edward A. Doran, Daniel G. Warner.

Fire department, law and ordinance, Daniel G. Warner, chairman, Horace G. Heller and Samuel A. Lee.

Public property, playground and municipal building, Samuel A. Lee, chairman, Horace G. Heller and Edward R. Lawson.

Suppose It Were Your Kid

Suppose it were your kid—your girl or boy—happy, protected, cherished—with dreams of growing up to become a movie star or pilot.

What could happen to her—or to him, laughing and playing in the sun under your watchful eyes? The chances are, nothing.

But to thousands of such carefree, loved, protected youngsters something did happen last year. Dreaded, sneak-attacking polio struck at them, childish laughter was stifled. There were days of pain—of excruciating anxiety—for some, a prospect of lifelong handicap. Suppose one of them had been your girl or boy.

January is March of Dimes month and during this time all of us have a chance to act as if our own children were among the unfortunate. We can strike back at this cruel disease by contributing generously to the MARCH OF DIMES to help them.

The job of getting kids back on their feet—in a literal sense—cannot continue unless you and I and all the rest of us put up more dollars and dimes than ever before. There have been 132,000 cases in four years, triple what used to be a "normal" number.

When you see the smiling lad on the MARCH OF DIMES posters or in the newspapers, think of the good that can be accomplished for him and others like him through the MARCH OF DIMES.

Suppose there were no MARCH OF DIMES, suppose it were your kid and no help at hand...

Fortunately, there is a MARCH OF DIMES. You created it and you can give it the extra backing it needs this year because there are so many kids—and adults too—dependent upon it.

All Those Pennies

There is a shortage of copper. Which makes it hard for Uncle Sam's mints to keep up the penny supply.

Government officials have appealed to the public to cough up. They seem to think most of the pennies are hidden in piggy banks.

But have they given any attention to sales taxes? In all those places where there are such taxes it's an endless game of put-and-take.

You can buy a magazine and in some states the clerk says, "got a penny for the tax?" If you have, you fork it over. If you haven't she gives you some. These pennies are so busy shuttling over counters there isn't even one left for your thoughts.

What Is A Republican?

General Eisenhower's declaration that he is a Republican raises the question: What is a Republican?

In some countries, political parties are membership organizations. Those wishing to belong apply for membership, are elected, and pay dues. Neither the Republican nor the Democratic Party is of this category. True, there are local and social clubs, but there is no national organization. No man, for instance, is president of the Republican or the Democratic party.

The national committee comes close to providing a central organ, but it is strictly functional, having to do with such matters as arranging for national conventions, sending out speakers, etc. Members of the national committee of either party may or may not have any influence upon the party's program, which is determined by the president-in-office for the majority party and the preponderance of votes on issues by the minority party.

In most states there is some form of enrollment or registration. Those who designate themselves in this manner can vote in primaries. On the other hand, a man who has been a Democrat, a Socialist, a Communist or a Prohibitionist can designate himself as a Republican in any year if he so desires. This is equally true of the Democratic Party. No pledge of allegiance is required.

What it amounts to, under our system, is that any citizen may, to suit his momentary purposes, declare himself as belonging to one party or another. It is even possible for groups to organize to raid the primaries of a party with the object of making it ineffectual. This is particularly true in Wisconsin and California.

Neither of the major political parties in this country has a permanent political philosophy. It used to be that the Republican Party was anti-slavery, high tariff, sound money, the Democratic Party was states rights, populism and a low tariff. Neither party has any such clear position today.

The Republican Party contains such men as Wayne Morse and Joe McCarthy; the Democratic Party such men as William Benton and Pat McCarran, Robert A. Taft is closer in philosophy to Harry Byrd than to Irving L. Ives; Margaret Chase Smith is closer to Hubert Humphrey than to Owen Brewster. The parties have become vehicles for election rather than for the propagation of deep convictions.

General Eisenhower in 1948 had the opportunity to enroll in New York State as a Republican. He was then a civilian, president of Columbia University; he had a similar opportunity in 1949 and 1950. He did not enroll as a Republican when the opportunity was his. There is, of course, no compulsion to enroll or register in this manner, but those who wish to engage in political activity usually do.

Miss Kay Summersby, who was closely associated with General Eisenhower during the war, in her book, "Eisenhower Was My Boss," says:

"In his casual conversations during World War II, General Eisenhower made it quite clear he regarded himself as a soldier, with no political ambitions whatsoever—not even political inclinations or interest. He was painfully definite in his opinion of politics in general..."

"His disinclination to accept either the Republican or the Democratic offices (in 1948) came as no surprise to me or anyone else who heard the statement he made during the war. For us, the fact that he said he had no political ambitions or desires ended the whole debate."

Another witness to General Eisenhower's point of view on political matters is Robert Sherwood, who reports Harry Hopkins as saying: "Amongst other things, Eisenhower told me that he and his family had always been Republicans and had voted against Roosevelt every time up until 1944; but that he did vote for Roosevelt this last time."

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington — Yesterday I related an exchange of conversation between members of the loyalty review board, who expressed their amazement that the State department had never fired an employee for disloyalty. This is doubly surprising, since the department is one of the largest agencies in the government and has been a target of Communist infiltration for 25 years or more.

The loyalty review board has found that in the past three years the average of disloyal employees in all other Federal agencies is 6 percent. In the State department, with its present loyalty board, the score is zero.

Lawrence V. Meloy, executive secretary of the Loyalty Review board, thinks he has one answer to the State department's remarkable record. There are other possibilities I'll go into later, but here is Meloy's conclusion, taken verbatim from the record of a Loyalty Review board meeting:

"This grows out of a practice which the State department has pursued more vigorously than any other agency. In our regulations we provide that after the hearing the agency board, under mitigating circumstances and where national security is not involved, may permit the man to resign, rather than have a finding of ineffectuality against him."

In other words, if the State department finds a spy in its ranks, and doesn't want the Russians to know for reasons that may affect the tracking down of accomplices, it can allow the Soviet sneak thief to resign and avoid the disclosures that would be made at a disloyalty hearing. But the State department abused the regulation.

Meloy went into that in detail. "Now that, primarily, as I remember it, at the time we put it in the regulations, was so that the service records of the government would show a resignation, rather than a discharge for loyalty, but it has come to my attention that the State department, throughout the program for two and one-half years, has not discharged a single person on the grounds of loyalty. What they do is to bring the employee in and say: 'now, we are going to file charges against you unless you resign,' so the man resigns."

In part, Meloy's attitude is that this is being used as a club to get rid of employees unpopular with the department's top brass, including anti-Communists who don't want to go through the worry and expense of a loyalty investigation as well as Reds who want to duck an exposure of their activities. But there is another result of the State department policy which is even more damaging to the nation's security.

There are two Goldwyn pronouncements I enjoyed recently. A fellow-producer persuaded him to attend a preview of a blood-and-thunder picture, and at its conclusion enthused, "Isn't that for you?" Goldwyn wisely pointed out, "The trouble is, it buckles where it should swish."

And Moss Hart tells about the day Mr. Goldwyn asked how he was progressing with his script on the life of Hans Christian Andersen. "If you don't like the job I've done," proclaimed Moss earnestly, "I will emulate Van Gogh, cut off my ear, and present it to you." "My boy," said Goldwyn, "in my desk I've got a whole drawer full of ears. All I ask from you is a good box-office script."

Sonny Legro, the Butte wildcat, says that although winter temperatures in those parts often hit fifty below, he's never worn ear-muffs since his disastrous accident. "What accident?" somebody always asks, and Sonny replies, "That black day someone asked me if I wanted a drink and I didn't hear him!"

There should be a change in the next edition of our dictionary. The word "idiot" should be changed to "eye-dol." Television is to blame for that.

Television has made hams out of most of our public idols and has changed them from statesmen, politicians, scientists, into "eye-dols."

Television is, of course, a great invention. I wouldn't be without my television set for anything. Tonight I can hardly wait for Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin. I thoroughly enjoyed Jimmy Durante and Helen Traubel the other night. I laughed my head off at Sid Caesar's and Imogene Coca's antics.

I can hardly wait for next Tuesday when Milton Berle clown's all over the screen, and for Wednesday when Arthur Godfrey gives me a thoroughly pleasant hour of entertainment.

A few nights ago I was touched by Arturo Toscanini and his masterful direction of Richard Wagner's music.

But all that is ENTERTAINMENT. I expect to see my comedians in make-up, and making fools of themselves. I expect my musicians to transport me into lands of dreams and imagination.

But when a politician smears on a lot of make-up and hams all over the screen, he becomes at once ridiculous and pitiful.

When a senator tries to emulate Milton Berle I do not listen to his warnings and exhortations. I compare him with Milton Berle.

Hollywood

Hollywood — Fred Allen, the pickle-pussed, scratchy voiced comedian, has been here from New York of late, making a movie. How did he like the work?

"It's a headache," groaned Fred. "We've been six days making just one episode in the picture. In the same period God made the world—and without regrets."

He plays the husband of glamorous Ginger Rogers in "We're Not Married." Did he think he was the proper romantic type for such a pleasant assignment?

"I sure don't," Allen croaked. "This is a character part for me. I play a young man, which is very difficult with my physical handicaps."

Then how did the baggy-eyed, 57-year-old funnyman think he got cast in such a role? "Hollywood," he answered, "is always doing strange things."

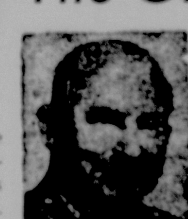

The radio veteran has been appearing on TV in New York once a month. He spoke of the difficulties: lighting... scenery limitations... in contrast with radio, where listeners build their own settings, in their imagination. Did he think television would kill movies?

"No. There's been a great upheaval in the beginning. You can't compete with anything that's free. But eventually radio, television, and pictures will have a place."

I asked Allen if he ever thought of moving to Southern California's warmer climate. "No. A place should have more to offer than climate. I said years ago that California is a great place

Letter To "G. L." From His Car Sergeant R. E. Reese, an American prisoner of the Chinese, in a letter to his mother asked for a photo of his auto.

"I kind of want a picture of that old car, if you still have it around," he wrote. He will get it. And if the car could write a letter to accompany the picture, it would say:

"Well, it sure was great to hear from you and to know you feel that way about me. My picture... gee!... what a kick I got! I ain't had any thrill like it since I came off the assembly line. It's the first time I was asked for my photo and I guess it has happened to few japs in history. I feel pretty distinctive and almost like I had also been asked for my autograph."

I hope you like this photo of me which your mom took right away. She scared hell out of me on account of it was a new experience and at first I figured she was carrying on some correspondence with a second-hand car dealer. Well, I am no beauty I have been around a lot and taken quite a beating. All my wrinkles show up and while your folks did a lot of polishing on me the nicks, scratches and patches still show. I have not grown fat. It is just that the new cars are more streamlined, I guess.

My morale shot away up at the news you really cared so much, and that away over in a Chinese prison camp you wanted my picture. Like the girls always says, "This is so sudden."

You used to drive sometimes like you wasn't too fond of me. There were moments when you handled me in a way to make me think that if anybody wanted a photo of me it would be the police department or the junkyard man. But you should see what your request has done to me. I am like a new car. My radiator ornament which looked pretty sour has perked up and the windshield

All through our conversation, Allen was solemn-faced. I asked if he ever laughs in the picture. "Yes, as directed," he said. "By appointment—not for any spontaneous reason. There's not much to laugh about if you look at the state of the world."

He excused himself, then, to find out whether he'd remove his hat for the next scene. "If so, I must re-arrange my dandruff."

Junior Club To Hear Of Heritage

The Junior Woman's club will have as their guests tonight a panel of members of the Senior Woman's club who will give "Highlights from the Woman's Club History", at the meeting at the Stroud Community House at 8.

The members of the panel are women who have been active in the Senior club's history, with Mrs. Eugene Martin, immediate past president, as head of the panel. Mrs. William Doby Palmer, organizing president; Mrs. J. C. LeBar, chairman of the Mansion House Committee; Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, Monroe County librarian; and Mrs. A. Greenwald Gearhart, Mrs. T. F. Rhodes and Mrs. William Webb, past presidents, will compose the panel.

Their experience covers the early organization of the club, the purchase and maintenance of the Stroud Community House, the establishment of the Junior Woman's club, and of the library and the many community welfare projects started by the club.

The program is designed to give the members of the Junior Woman's club a picture of the heritage of club work, both serious and amusing, to which they are heir.

Mrs. Arthur Henning and Mrs. John Regan are co-chairmen of the hostess committee.

South American Program, Menu Decorations

The Missionary Society of the Grace Lutheran church entertained the similar group from St. John's Lutheran church at a South American meeting last Thursday night when program, decorations and food were all in the South American motif.

Mrs. William Palmer led the opening devotions and Mrs. William Wunder was in charge of the program which included a sound, color film of Argentina and a recording of the progress of the Christian church there.

The refreshments were all products of South America, and gay menus listed not only the oranges, bananas, Mexican wedding cake and other tropical food, but also carried the recipe for each item on the menu. Bright flowers, and tiny straw hats for favors added to the program.

Father Is Host For His Daughter

Shawnee — Betty Treible, daughter of Harold Treible, celebrated her birthday at a dinner party at her home Wednesday night of last week. She received numerous gifts. A social time followed the dinner.

Guests included her father, also grandmother, Mrs. Minerva Treible, brother, Russell Treible, brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lesoine, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sherman and Mrs. Gladys Jones and daughter, Sharon.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You can pay a mint of money, and secure the best talent in the country, and the members of the club won't enjoy it half as much as a program put on by their own members. With the proof of the pudding being the Woman's club meeting yesterday afternoon with book reviews by their own members.

They loved it—and what's more they thoroughly enjoyed the teen-agers in their folk tunes—including "Frankie and Johnny," "After long years of 'I Love Life' and "Down in the Forest Something Stirred" and the semi-classical numbers, popular ditties came as sort of a refreshing surprise.

Not such a refreshing surprise came to the Ann Logan hostesses last night, though, when their whipped cream whipper went on a rampage and sprayed whipped cream all over the hostesses.

Oh it's a wonderful life—but these next three days offer almost too much of a good thing. Frankly, even with train-dispatcher efficiency, you're going to have trouble making all the things you ought to.

The Cancer meeting and the Children's Aid this afternoon; the Nursing Organization and the Junior Woman's club tonight; the All-Star Show sponsored by the Temple Israel and the other meetings for the same night, Wednesday; the Garden club and the Historical society dinner Thursday. Lady, you'll have to hustle.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

St. Matthew's Parents Plan February Dance

Plans were launched for the round and square dance to be sponsored by the Parents association of St. Matthew's parochial school at a well-attended meeting held last night in the school auditorium.

The dance will be held on Monday February 11, the regular meeting night of the organization. The association will hold a brief business meeting at 7:30 p.m. with the dance starting immediately afterward.

Music for square dancing will be furnished by Arch Possinger and his square dance band, and music for the round dancing will be presented by Joe Webster of WVPO, who will present a balanced program of the latest hit releases by the country's leading dance bands, such as Ralph Flanagan, Sammy Kaye, Ray Anthony, Guy Lombardo and others.

Cooperating in sponsoring the dance are the Holy Name Society, the Altar and Rosary society, the Blessed Virgin sodality, the Aquinas club of East Stroudsburg State Teachers college.

At the meeting last night, the parents also planned a benefit party later in February.

The group decided to purchase a public address system for the use of the school and for social functions there. Proceeds from the dance and party will be used for this project.

An entertainment committee was appointed to plan programs for future meetings: Mrs. Sally Viechnicki, Mrs. Patricia Buckwalter, William Lopez and George Rung.

The president, Chester Mertens challenged the men to equal the attendance of the women at their next meeting.

Judy Boushell Is 3 Years Old

Women And Books Theme Of Woman's Club Anniversary

The Stroudsburg Woman's club yesterday celebrated its anniversary with a member participation program in honor of the past presidents of the club. It took the form of a Book Log with Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, Monroe county librarian, as moderator, introducing the books, all of which dealt with women in recent books.

Beginning with the 19th century, Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin reviewed "The Romantic Rebel," the story of George Sands, whose unconventional childhood and rebellion against accepted standards of her day combined with her romantic sympathies led her through many affairs with some of the most talented men of her day.

In contrast, Mrs. Alphonse Meyers' review of "The Peabody Sisters of Salem" emphasized the character of Elizabeth Peabody, whose friendship with men of prominence in American life of approximately the same period was cast in more conventional lines, and yet who pioneered in many fields, including the first book on education, the first lending library, the first woman publisher, and a pioneer in the field of kindergarten work, and the championship of every worthy cause.

Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff paid tribute to a mother and business woman, Mrs. Frank Gilbrith, in reviewing "Beles on Her Toes," the story of a woman's successful rearing of her children, and sequel to "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Mrs. John Rumsey's review of "His Eye on the Sparrow" the story of Ethel Waters career and the growth of her faith, again formed a contrast to the preceding book, and the whole program was received with enthusiasm by the members.

Mrs. Parke Kunkle, program chairman, paid tribute to the past leaders of the club and of the Junior Woman's club, whom she introduced.

The program opened with songs by the club's Ensemble of the East Stroudsburg High school under the direction of Miss Betty Goodall, who was introduced by Mrs. William R. Levering.

"The girls sang 'I saw a Star,' 'Frankie and Johnny,' 'Grandma Grunt,' 'Haunted Heart' and as an encore, 'The Little Worm.' Miss Charlotte Herman played 'Claire DeLune' as a piano solo. Members of the chorus were Vivian Hartzell, Jane Sluter, Elaine Papillon, Linda Strunk, Frances Naugle, Barbara Wolshayer, Lois Detrick, Joan Dowling, Mary Sue Harvey, Ruth Cramer, Charlotte Bach, Pat Harzell, Gerry Chobey, Nancy Walters and Charlotte Herman.

The art corner, arranged by Mrs. Paul Lloyd and Mrs. Eli Travis, carried out the book theme, with many old books on display, many of them dealing with the local scene.

The tea table, too, had as its centerpiece a colorful open book with tall green candles and a bouquet of spring flowers completing the arrangement. Mrs. Christie Shull and Mrs. Millard Rice were chairmen of the hostess committee, and Mrs. W. Dolby Palmer and Mrs. William C. Gorman poured.

Mrs. George T. Robinson, president, presided at the opening business session when Mrs. Eugene H. Martin gave the prayer for peace. Announcement was made of the spring meeting of the Monroe County Federation of Women's club in Stroudsburg, by Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, county president. Mrs. Holbrook also urged members to attend the American Cancer society meeting today at 2:30 at the YMCA, arranged by Mrs. Robert Miller, county unit captain. Mrs. J. Albert Groner, literature chairman, announced the short story contest for members.

Those who attended were: Ernest Karcher Jr., Gloria Jean Hauck, Earl Hauck, Richard Lang, the hosts and little Dory Spencer Karcher, the guest of honor.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Lucille Lorenzet, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lorenzet, of East Stroudsburg, is now a patient in St. Luke's hospital, Bethlehem, and is anxious to hear from her friends.

Mrs. Sophie Metzgar is celebrating her 75th birthday today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Lee, of 176 Grove St., East Stroudsburg. She has been confined to her bed for the past four months. Mrs. Metzgar has three other children: Mrs. Horace Ruth, Harry Repsher and Stewart Repsher Jr.

Mrs. C. B. Staples' many friends will be glad to know that she is back in Monroe county for awhile, staying with Mrs. Sophie B. Kitchen at Bishop Colony, Saylorburg. Mrs. William D. Kirkpatrick, of York, Mrs. Staples' daughter, is leaving with her husband on January 30 for the West Coast and Texas.

Those who attended were: Mrs. Andrew Lewis, Mrs. Elmer Daniels, Mrs. Robert Ziegler, Mrs. Clifford Steffens, Mrs. Hugh Talmage, Mrs. Harold Gravel and Mrs. Leon Meyung.

Card Party Planned By Anna Logans

With two successful projects completed, the Anna Logan Society of the General Hospital last night launched its third project—a public card party to be held Tuesday, February 5, at the Indian Queen hotel.

Mrs. Robert A. Miller, president named Mrs. Merle C. Ostrom and Mrs. T. I. Metzgar co-chairmen with Mrs. David Katz and Mrs. Frank Stackhouse assisting.

At the business meeting reports were made of the fruit cake and calendar sale, and it was announced that some birthday and engagement calendars were still available. It was also announced that the Anna Logan society had placed small Christmas favors with a card on each patient's tray at the hospital during the holidays.

Mrs. Katz announced the Temple Israel All-Star show tonight. A work session followed the business meeting when members folded bandages for the hospital.

Miss Charlotte Shupp and her committee served gingerbread and whipped cream and coffee after the work period. The committee included Mrs. Kenneth Skelton, Mrs. Herbert Rupprecht, Mrs. T. I. Metzgar, Mrs. Esther Neyhart, Mrs. Boyd Weiss, Mrs. Earl Pipher, Mrs. Roy Houser, Mrs. Laura Thomas, Mrs. Elwood Hintze, Mrs. Mildred Edger and Mrs. Harry Sutton.

Portland Women's Club To Hear Talk On Wills

Portland—The Portland Woman's club will meet on Wednesday afternoon, January 16, in the social room of the Baptist church with the president, Mrs. Bert Transue presiding.

Alfred Nittle, attorney of East Bangor, and assistant district attorney of Northampton county will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Wills." The chairman of the hostess committee is Mrs. Olin Cramer.

Card Party For March Of Dimes

Tannersville—The Pocono Township Fire Company ladies auxiliary will sponsor a public card party on Thursday night, January 17, the proceeds of which will go to the Monroe County Infantile Paralysis fund.

There will be prizes and refreshments, and the public is invited to attend.

Bartron, Fox Wedding Plans

Portland — Announcement has been made that Miss Kathleen Bartron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bartron, of this place, and Fred Fox, of Washington, N. J., will be wedded at the home of the bride Saturday, January 19, at 11 a.m.

Only the immediate families will be in attendance. Miss Bartron is a teacher in the public schools at Somerville, N. J.

P.O. Of A. Camp To Plan Meetings

Camp 289, P. O. of A., will meet Thursday, January 17, at the P. O. of A. hall when plans will be made to entertain all the P. O. of A. camps in the county the first Thursday in April.

At this meeting also a delegate will be elected to the state camp at Scranton, and officers will be nominated for the coming year.

First Class Postponed

The Bible Study class being organized by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church has postponed its first meeting from January 16 until February 6, it was announced last night.

Degree Team Meeting

The degree team of the Daughters of America will meet Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Arlene Young, Tenth St., Stroudsburg.

S. & D. Of L. To Induct Officers

Monroe Council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty will meet Tuesday night at 8 at Odd Fellows hall at which time installation of officers will take place. All officers are to be dressed in white.

Following the meeting there will be a covered dish supper and social hour. The officers urged a large attendance of members.

Sometimes it seems Wyckoff's could fill its own newspaper with the important goings and comings that are part and parcel of operating a store so it fills every shopping need of its customers.

Last week, for instance, the store was practically empty of executives. Everyone had gone into New York for the meetings of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. Many department heads were also away, doing the market to see and order the new spring merchandise. I can't tell you too much about style trends at the moment, but everyone is pleasantly excited. The season ahead, we are advised, is going to be fresh and exhilarating, with Wyckoff's going all-out to please its customers, both from the standpoint of style and price.

If we were publishing our own newspaper, here are some of the items that could be used in the personal column tomorrow: — Betty Bartholomew's desk in stock clothing is unused today, she and Mae Coffman having gone into New York to attend the corset shows. Mae, who is head of that department, will participate in the 24th annual instructional course on the fitting of Camp surgical supports. Also away is Viola Feltham, who does such beautiful monogramming on the store Meistergram. Mrs. Feltham is taking an advanced course so that she will be able to do even more intricate work, including trademarks and crests.

Edna Harmon, head of jewelry, and her assistant, Betty LaBarre, Laura Fabel of hosiery and Beatrice Gory of handbags, spent yesterday at the Accessory Show. Edith Pennington, head of lingerie, and Cora Alberson witnessed yesterday's Lingerie Show, and Helen Levy, who has spent several days in the market recently, returns to New York for another few days of observation and buying. Helen's interest is the teen ages. Just a moment ago, I overheard Bud Alfonsone make arrangements through Edna Brockman of our travel bureau for hotel accommodations in Philadelphia, where he will attend next week's Men's Apparel Show. Others planning to visit New York sometime this week will be Carrie Rusk, of sportswear, and William Rusk of toys.

And aren't we stay-at-homes lucky? We can wait quietly, and have the cream of the crop brought back to us—at Wyckoff's.

Colonial Diner, Clemens' Five Gain Victories

Colonial Diner and Clemens' Service Station scored victories in yesterday's Biddy Basketball games at the Monroe County YMCA, while Koren's Roofers and Line Material suffered setbacks.

The Colonial Diner held the upper hand in every period to take the measure of Koren's Roofers, 28-22. The winning aggregation held a four-point edge at the end of the opening round, then held the upper hand by two counters in each of the final three stanzas.

Early Spurt

Clemens' Service Station stepped on the gas to score 11 points in the first quarter and account for a final 24-18 victory over Line Material in the nighttime of yesterday's bargain bill. Line Material held the upper hand in the second half, but never was able to make up for the damage done in the first half.

Tommy Schaller was the number one point producer for the afternoon, as the Clemens' Service Station center tallied 14 points, on six field goals and two tosses from the foul line.

Dawson Named Head Football Coach At Pitt

Pittsburgh. (AP) — A new hand grasped the helm of Pitt's wavering football fortunes yesterday as Lowell "Red" Dawson got the head coaching job at the Skyscraper University.

Dawson, backfield coach of the Michigan State Spartans, came close to being a unanimous decision. He was the first choice of athletic director Tom Hamilton and of the student body.

A veteran of 20 years coaching experience, Dawson gets a three year contract. His salary was not disclosed. A Pitt spokesman said the new coach will pull into Pittsburgh in the near future to look over the scene of his future triumphs—or defeats.

Announcement of Dawson's selection followed a two hour meeting of the Pitt board of trustees. They acted favorably on a recommendation of their athletic committee that Dawson be given the post.

Dawson, who is 44, could have had the job last summer by merely saying yes. But he turned it down, saying acceptance would mean giving Michigan State a very skimpy notice.

The vacancy was created last July 17 when Pitt coach Len Casanova suddenly quit to take a coaching job at the University of

Lowell "Red" Dawson

Oregon. He said his family wanted to live on the coast and illness in the family made the move imperative.

Branch

Athletic director Hamilton jumped into the breach and served through the 1951 season as both coach and athletic director. Playing a tough schedule he had drawn up himself.

Hamilton suffered one defeat after another until seven losses had been chalked up. But his team finished the year with three victories, beating Miami of Florida, Penn State and West Virginia.

When Hamilton took over as coach he made it emphatic that he would not consider remaining in the dual role.

The new coach also will have to meet big time football teams. But the team he will coach will have more experience and savvy than the passels of youngsters Hamilton tutored last year.

Some of the biggest football games in the nation are on the 1952 Pitt schedule. The Panthers will open against Iowa and take on Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Army, West Virginia, Indiana, Ohio State and North Carolina before closing with Penn State.

More than 80 job hunters wooed Pitt during the last year and a half—but none put Dawson out of the favorite spot.

After quarterbacking at Tulane for three years, Dawson began his coaching career at Minnesota as backfield mentor. In 1936 he became Tulane's head coach. In 1939, his Tulane team was undefeated all year but lost to Texas A&M in the Sugar Bowl.

Contractors Open Office At Tobyhanna

The Consolidated Construction Co., Woodbury, N. J., opened offices yesterday at the Tobyhanna Signal Corps depot.

Consolidated was awarded a contract last month for "a portion of the second phase" of the depot.

Specifically, the "second phase" of the depot construction includes the laying of a network of railroads and the building of four central warehouse units. The Jersey company has been awarded a contract for the warehouse portion of the phase.

According to official sources at the depot the contract involves "in excess of four and a half million dollars" ($4,670,045). The amount covers the erection of four single-floor type warehouses with a storage area 200 by 1200 feet complete with three truck loading platforms and foundations.

Consolidated's offices were opened yesterday in Building T-521 under the direct supervision of Thomas Kelly, vice president of the company and general superintendent for the Tobyhanna job.

Company officials said "they were prepared to begin operations on their portion of the contract immediately." The starting date, however, hinges entirely upon how long it takes Rochez Bros., East Pittsburgh contractors who are handling the site preparation phase, to finish grading areas on which the warehouses are to be erected.

Rochez has one month to six weeks left to complete the "first" phase of construction. The company has been tied up by a work stoppage involving 211 members of two unions since Nov. 23.

Extensive grading will be necessary in some areas — from four to seven feet, according to official estimates. The remainder of the potential warehouse areas also will require grading.

The Jersey construction firm said yesterday a total of seven "sub-contracts" would be let for the warehouse construction. Selection of the subsidiary companies is now under way.

The second portion of phase 2, identified as "railroad work" was awarded last month to Thomas Scholes, Inc., Reading, Pa. The railroad construction firm has not yet opened offices at the depot.
